ALEXANDRIA, SATURDAY, JAN. 24.

The firm adherence of the Irish to the constitutional and democratic party has set the radicals against them, and we rarely pick up a radical paper that does not contain some attempt slurred upon the people of the Emerald Isle. The Washington Chronicle after saying that the "negro voter is as shrewd and intelligent as the average democrat in the North or South," proceeds as follows: "But the question may be asked whether the present bloody phase of democratic character is not built upon the character of the Irish when devoted to agrarian warfare. Has not the paraded rebel democrat, for political purposes, transferred the disposition of the once disturbed districts of Ireland to the democratic districts of the Southern States, that he may revel, like the Irish assassin, in the blood of colored rebels?"

The radicals have short memories. Senators Wright and Morton forget that they opposed last spring the very course they are now pursuing, and some of their papers ask, "What if the Supreme Court of the United States should decide a case in favor of a plaintiff, and the defendant should ignore the decision and proceed immediately to seize the property of the plaintiff, which was legally recovered?" and answer, "This is the situation of affairs in Louisiana," failing to recollect that their supporters use as actually occurred within the past two or three weeks, with this difference, that the Supreme Court of South Carolina decided the case instead of the Supreme Court of the United States, and that the plaintiffs were democrats.

Notwithstanding the acknowledged fact that many negroes in every section of the country, North as well as South, invariably, and in increasing numbers, vote the democratic ticket, the radical organs say that "Mr. Sherman and Mr. Morton struck the true note when they said that if the negro was left untrammeled he would always vote the republican ticket. That is unquestionably the fact. It is not natural that he should vote with his life long enemy, unless he is compelled to do so by the use of the bludgeon and the pistol." That the negro does not consider the democrat his enemy is proved daily by his passing by all the radicals in his neighborhood, and going straight to a democrat for assistance when in trouble.

The radicals profess to despise Virginia and her men and institutions, and yet, with amusing assurance, repudiate their birth places upon the slightest provocation, and seize with avidity upon the opportunity afforded by a day's visit to the State to call themselves Virginians. There is a set of these characters in Washington who style themselves the Virginia Republican Association, the executive committee of which met last night and agreed to a preamble and resolutions, to be offered for adoption at a called meeting, expressive of their distaste of the great Presidential compromise, as reported by the joint commission of the two Houses of Congress.

The Philadelphians are a thrifty and "smart" set of people, and never let an opportunity pass to make a penny or a million. They borrowed $1,500,000 from the U. S. Government to start their centennial exhibition, but having determined never to return it, and to make that much in addition to the immense profits of the show, yesterday got a U. S. Judge to decide that they were right and that the Government had given and not lent them the money.

When Secretary Chandler found that the President was afraid to again outrage the feelings of the whole country by a repetition of Gen. Sheridan's proceedings in Louisiana, and that there was no way by which he could be induced to openly recognize the radical fraud in that State unless active hostilities commenced, he exhibited his patriotism by telegraphing to Packard to "make an attack on the Nicholls forces if you have to die in the street."

Augusta and Rockbridge are the champion counties in the State for sheep killing dogs and dog laws. Col. McCue, of Augusta, and Gov. Letcher, of Rockbridge, have essayed in vain to have dog laws adopted, and yet the Valley Virginian of yesterday mentions the case of one gentleman who, a night or two ago, lost fifty-four valuable sheep during a raid upon his flock by the dogs in his neighborhood.

The galleries of the U. S. Senate were cleared yesterday because their occupants applauded the remark that Governor Packard, of Louisiana, was an infamous robber. If the same rule is to obtain in future whenever a radical who has been detected in a fraud is properly characterized, the Senate will be in continuous executive session hereafter.

The Congressional investigation of the Washington Police Board has been so damaging to the character of Mr. Murtagh, that it is now said the President who, however, still advises him, has been forced to ask him to resign his position as a member of that Board, and has appointed L. G. Kimball in his stead.

In his evidence before the District Police Investigating Committee of the House of Representatives, one of the detectives testified that "it was his business to associate with gamblers, thieves, prostitutes, and lawyers." We put in a plea in bar for the lawyers.

Jas. E. Bailey has been elected Senator from Tennessee for the short term (ex-Governor Isham G. Harris having been elected for the long term some days since).

Notwithstanding Senator Edmonds' assertion to the contrary, the plan reported by the joint Congressional committee for curtailing the electoral vote is in every element of its composition a compromise, but so far from that being an objection to its adoption it should recommend it to every man really desirous of a speedy termination of the present deplorable condition of the country's affairs. The chief objection is that the tribunal is composed of such a small number that the votes of one or two may decide the important question, and the war and the example the radicals have set have had such a demoralizing effect that the immense amount of money at the control of the radicals—the whole Treasury of the United States, which experience has proved they use as though it belonged to them—will enable them to buy the President they could not elect. But the contingency should be no sufficient reason for Southern democrats to oppose the measure, for though they and every body else know that Mr. Tilden is fairly elected, they also know that Northern democrats would not risk their stocks and bonds in a forlorn effort to have him inaugurated, and that without such an effort the radicals will be sure to inaugurate Hayes unless the plan proposed or a similar one be agreed upon.

The commissioners appointed to define the boundary between the States of Maryland and Virginia have made their report, which by the terms of the law by which they were appointed, must be final. By it Maryland is awarded sovereignty over the whole of the Potomac river to its southern bank, except that Virginia is to have dominion over the soil to low-water mark on the south side of the river, and to such use of the river beyond low-water mark as may facilitate the full enjoyment of her riparian ownership without interfering with navigation or with Maryland's proper uses thereof. The line as established across the Chesapeake to the Atlantic gives Maryland valuable oyster beds on the east side of Tangier sound and north side of Pocomoke bay which have long been maintained, which runs from Smith Point to Winkins Point until it reaches the latest spot, namely, Winkins Point which is in latitude 37° 54' 38", longitude 75° 59' 44"; thence south 79° 30' east four thousand and eight hundred and eighty yards, to a point marked A on the accompanying map, in the middle of Tangier sound, in latitude 37° 56' 42", longitude 75° 56' 23", said point bearing from Jane's Island light south 54° west, and distant from that light three thousand five hundred and sixty yards; thence south 10° 50' west four thousand seven hundred and forty yards, by a line dividing the waters of Tangier sound, to a point where it intersects the straight line from Smith Point to Winkins Point, said point of intersection being in latitude 37° 54' 21", longitude 75° 56' 55", bearing from Jane's Island light south 32° west, and from Isle of Hammon south 34° 30' east. This point of intersection is marked B on the accompanying map. Thence north 8° 15' east six thousand seven hundred and twenty yards along the line above mentioned, which runs from Smith Point to Winkins Point until it reaches the latest spot, namely, Winkins Point which is in latitude 37° 54' 38", longitude 75° 59' 44".
